will give a talk

entitled

AN ANALYTICAL PATH TO BIG DATA

Abstract

Alibaba has set its strategy “Data Technology” for 2014. In this session we will cover several use cases to shed light on how big data could make big impact to e-commerce and beyond. Through the use cases we will illustrate big data challenges to classical analytical approaches developed for typical small data set. We will share our successful practice of adopting cutting edge research to attack such challenges. Exciting opportunities for data scientists will be discussed in the end.
